Student Status Reference Guide

Once a college-bound student-athlete has registered with the NCAA Eligibility Center, he/she will begin seeing different status notifications in the account. Below is a list of the different status types and a brief description of what that particular status means.

Status Type	Status Displayed	Description
Registration	You are Not Registered	Once you have completed the About Me, My Coursework, and My Sports sections and made payment or had a fee waiver approved, your registration will be complete.
Registration	Payment Pending	If a user indicates he or she is eligible for a fee waiver, even though the user is considered registered, he or she will remain in a "payment pending" state until the fee waiver documentation is received from a high school administrator. At that time, the college-bound student-athlete's payment will be marked as complete.

Academic	In Process	Academic certification staff is reviewing the case. Once the review is complete, the case record is updated and is pending a possible quality control review. A case will remain "In Process" for no more than two business days and then be released with one of the following outcomes: a preliminary academic certification with or without a newly assigned task(s), a final certification, or a status change to one of the other three status designations. Please note, a preliminary academic certification decision that, after being released, meets the Division I and/or II Early Academic Qualifier (EAQ) parameters, will switch to a final academic certification for the specific division the following night after it is released (i.e., a preliminary case "In Process" starting at 11 a.m. on Tuesday is released at 1 p.m. on Wednesday will switch to EAQ-approved Wednesday night).
Academic	Secondary Review	The academic certification case is escalated within academic certification for issue-specific secondary review (e.g., post-graduate coursework identified, post-graduate test scores identified, illegible high school transcripts, changes to course/grade/credit identified on high school transcripts). This review will be completed within five business days, after which the case will be released with one of the following outcomes: a preliminary academic certification with or without a newly assigned task(s), a final certification, or a status change to one of the other three status designations.

Academic	HS Decision Pending	The academic certification case is pending resolution of an issue related to a high school or program (e.g., student attended a school or program with no List of NCAA Courses). This may mean the NCAA Eligibility Center has the information necessary to make a decision, and the decision is pending. It also may mean that the NCAA Eligibility Center has done all it can with an issue, and is awaiting information/action/response from the high school. This status will remain until a decision has been made regarding the school/program or issue.
Academic	Under Review	The academic certification case review is escalated for a unique situation (e.g., PSA Review). While the goal is the expedited review and release of all cases, in these unique scenarios where there are numerous factors out of the NCAA Eligibility Center's control, this review status has no completion service standard. However, once it has been released, the case will have one of the following outcomes: a preliminary academic certification with or without a newly assigned task(s), a final certification, or a status change to one of the other three status designations.
Academic	*Final Nonqualifier	You will not be able to practice or compete for your college/university during your first year of college; or receive an athletics scholarship during your first year of college, although you may receive need-based financial aid.
Academic	*Final Partial Qualifier	(Division II) You can practice with your
